

The ghost that haunted everybody

Chapter 1

Once upon a time there was a person that was very old so old that he had lost count of how old he was. He figured that he was about 90 but he didn't know. He lived in a house that was very close to his age. He loved being around people, birds and other animals. One day he died of old age. Lots of people were in his grave when he died because they knew him very well. They didn't know how bad his ghost was going to be until they found out. They went back home after his death. But his ghost was still alive in that grave coming out to haunt them forever.

Chapter 2

When all of his friends were home in their bed getting ready to go to sleep he started to haunt them, first he was turning off all of their water systems, next he started unlocking all of their doors. By the time they woke up he had turned their things upside down so they could have a big surprise. He started really haunting them in the day by hiding their stuff from them.

This is what he looked like...

As you can see he looked pretty creepy and that was what he used next. Everyone was very scared and could not move for 48 hours straight! But that was just the beginning of things that were happening in their homes.

Chapter 3

The next day everyone was screaming as loud as they possibly could because their photos of their parents were gone in their replacement there was a new photo that looked like this...

Eventually he couldn't stop laughing at them. He decided that he was going to be even worse than he had been before. He went to their house to take their clothes and food to his storage shed where he had all his stuff. 39 years later he died for his second time and he was himself again after a long time.

He was back from the dead in a good way but he didn't know what he had done to his friends.
