Are you scared to play alone?

Once upon a time, there was a little boy named Charlie and his friend that was a girl named Bonnie. They were playing together at their school when a creepy man came up asking to play.

He had this weird smile that went from side to side and big bug eyes.

The children knew they weren't supposed to talk to strangers but he seemed nice, once they told him to come over the fence his stomach started opening and spider legs started coming out.

The children got scared, when he got over the fence he snatched one of the other kids at the playground and asked to play the kid screamed and the man started to eat him.

His mouth opened and all his teeth appeared like knives, they screamed and got sad and wanted to run and tell the teacher.

He looked at them and wanted to eat them too and started chasing them, don't talk to strangers with spider legs.
